NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — A stick-swinging duel on the ice Thursday night built up into a trip to police cells for three players in a major league exhibition hockey game.

An on-the-ice stick duel between New York Rangers rookie Eddie Shack and Hershey Bears' Larry Zeidel was resumed in a wild free-for-all in the stands after both were ordered out of the game. Hershey's Obie O'Brien got into the second act.

In between scraps the National Hockey League Rangers played out a 7-3 victory over Hershey, American Hockey League champions last year.

The three players were arrested and are to appear in court next week. Zeidel was to be

Living Costs Hit New High; Wage Spirals Slightly Behind

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs rose to a new high during August with the consumer price index climbing by two-fifths of a point to a record 125.6 on Sept. 1 from 125.0 on Aug. 1, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The second consecutive monthly rise resulted mainly from higher prices for streetcar and bus fares.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker will meet government leaders of France, West Germany and Italy during an eight-day visit in Europe next month, it was announced today. He will spend one day with the RCAF in France and observe Remembrance Day Nov. 11 with the Canadian Army Brigade in Germany.

Details of the prime minister's European travels, part of a seven-week trip round the world, were disclosed on the heels of Thursday's announcement of the itinerary for his six-day stay in the United Kingdom.

Valley Fruit Unions Effect Cease-Fire Through CLC

New Organization Sought By Treaty

By ALBERT DENEGRIE
Daily Courier Staff Writer

A directly-chartered Canadian Congress of Labor local for the fruit and vegetable workers in the Okanagan and Kootenays, likely will be the result of a conditional formula for settlement reached in the long-standing dispute between two rival labor factions.

An agreement was established last week by representatives of the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions and Local 48, International Brotherhood of Teamsters' Fruit and Vegetable Workers. Also signing the agreement were three officials of the Canadian Labor Congress which body drew the two disputants together and engineered the pact.

The formula still is subject to ratification by executives and membership of the two unions.

The formula agreement, a copy of which The Daily Courier was able to obtain today, provides for a settlement of funds and court costs, the withdrawing by Teamsters of all applications for certification "currently pending before the B.C. Labor Relations Board," (in the fruit and vegetable industry only, but not including the fruit processing plants), and dissolution of the Federation, leading subsequently to the "formation of a chartered local of the CLC in its stead."

In the event that the formula for settlement (or agreement) is not fully approved by the "membership of each organization and their respective legal counsel," further meetings will be held to resolve such matters. Only the items in dispute may be discussed at these meetings.

In keeping with that part of the formula for settlement, the agreement that refers to the settlement of all funds, properties and assessments, a new writ of delivery was issued by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the B.C. Supreme Court under date of Sept. 16.

WRIT EXECUTED — This writ of delivery was executed by deputy sheriff G. K. Kristjanson earlier this week when assets of the Federation were stored in a warehouse awaiting further court orders.

Taken away in a truck to be stored were items of furniture, safes, filing cabinets, typewriters, stationery and old FFWU records. Also taken by the deputy sheriff were Canadian government bonds, purchased by the Federation and with a face value of $10,000.

Value of the total assets, including the bonds, was estimated at $12,000.

APPROVAL EXPECTED — While formal ratification of the settlement formula or agreement still has not been made, in labor circles it is generally believed that the CLC-sponsored settlement will be given approval.

In that case, then, it is likely that the CLC will sponsor a general meeting or meetings, the result of which could be the formation of a chartered CLC local.

However, this type of local is not too common in the Canadian labor movement. Workers usually are encouraged to join a national or international union.

So, officials said, the prospects are that when the time is considered ripe by the CLC, a referendum will be held among the workers in the fruit and vegetable industry to see if they wish to remain as a CLC chartered local or to join the Teamsters or another alternative—the United Packinghouse Workers of America.

JODOIN PARTICIPATED — A recent news release from G. C. Gooderham, regional director, CLC, reported that a previous agreement between the Teamsters and the UPWA paved the way for the formula settlement.

The release also pointed out that conferences held at Vancouver had been "most harmonious." Claude Jodoin, CLC president, participated personally in the meetings, together with William Dodge, CLC executive vice-president, Joseph MacKenzie, CLC director. Mr. Darrow's views were supported by George Snowden, business agent for Local 48. Said Mr. Snowden: "I'll bet the wires are burning up this morning over that story."

Their views were obtained in an interview with The Daily Courier.

Mr. Darrow's story said in part: "It is believed to be the first time in Canadian labor history that a small group has been taken over by a large international union and has emerged with a whole skin."

Gaitskell Convinces Critics He's "Boss"

SCARBOROUGH, Eng. (CP) — ences when they fought for the party leadership a few years ago. Gaitskell is doing a convincing job of showing his critics who is boss of Britain's Labor party.

With a few comparatively minor items to be cleaned up at today's closing session of the party's annual conference, the normally urbane opposition leader was emerging in the new role of a tiger who eats not only Conservatives but party malcontents for breakfast.

Gaitskell's stock has been boosted by an obvious desire by all sections of the party to display unity. Aneurin Bevan has taken every opportunity to demonstrate willingness to forget their differences when they fought for the party leadership a few years ago.

But the party leader himself struck the decisive blow Thursday in quelling the annual left-wing revolt on nuclear disarmament. It was the third time Gaitskell had addressed the conference but the first time he had dealt with the controversial party issue.

Britain Protests Fish Vessel "Molestations"

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has emphatically protested to Iceland about "general molestation" of British fishing vessels off Iceland, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the protest was handed Oct. 1 to the Icelandic foreign ministry in Reykjavik by British ambassador Andrew Gilchrist.

The note protested "repeated attempts to place grapples on British trawlers and dangerous navigation by Icelandic coast guard vessels."

It mentioned two specific incidents—the boarding Sept. 25 by Icelandic coast guards of the British trawler Paynter and the firing of warning shots to halt the trawler Afridi Sept. 29.

NEGRO FINALLY GETS 10 YEARS

ROCKFORD, Alabama (CP) — A 33-year-old Negro, facing a possible death sentence after being convicted of raping an elderly white woman, was given a minimum sentence of 10 years Thursday.

The sentence came only a week after Negro handyman Jimmy Wilson facing execution for stealing $1.55, had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Governor James E. Folsom commuted the death sentence passed on Wilson after a flood of protests from all over the world said no man should be executed over $1.55.

Wilson was sentenced for robbery with violence—capital offense in Alabama. The elderly white woman who accused him also said he tried to rape her.

Two women were killed. In Limassol, security forces used tear gas and clubs to disperse students who marched through the streets throwing stones and shouting slogans.

Pet Peeves May Show Way To Improve The Community

What's your pet peeve?

When the sun is shining brightly and all is apparently well with the world, is there some little thing that has the power to make you do a quick switcheroo and suddenly blow your top?

Maybe you normally have the placid temperament of a polyanthus. It's harder to get you stirred up than a barrel of cold molasses. But then you suddenly see or hear your pet peeve and you're out there swinging, just like a punch-drunk fighter at the first sound of the bell.

The dictionary says a peeve is something that causes irritation; a grudge. It may be a person, an action, a noise, a color—it's just something that makes you mad.

Some people get mad when they see political signs posted on trees and telephone poles long after a political campaign is over. They resent the thoughtlessness of the candidate who allows his picture on a poster to deface a scene of nature's. One editorial writer has threatened to print the names of all political candidates whose posters he finds still tacked up a month after the election.

Everybody has a pet peeve. Because it's always interesting to see what makes other people tick, we've gathered a few peeves from luncheon conversations.

"I wish they'd stop those truck drivers coming down my street with an open muffler. I just start to doze off at night and here he comes: 'karroon, karroon, jarroon.' He stops at the intersection and away he goes again, his tires squealing as he starts up."

"My pet peeve is the TV commercial. I know they have to have commercials, but why can't they get some that please rather than irritate people they are trying to sell? I hate some commercials so, I deliberately refuse to buy the products—although I do enjoy the programs."

"There is not enough time between the red and green lights on Bernard Avenue. You start to walk across the street on the green light; it turns yellow and then red and you're walking against traffic before you get on the other side."

"My pet peeve is the bridge siren. I can't understand why it is necessary at all and I particularly cannot understand why it blows when the bridge is being lowered."

"My pet peeve is the fellow who parks one car right in the middle of two parking spaces."

"What makes me maddest is the unsolicited, unwanted literature that I get in my mailbox. I get even by always mailing back the envelopes enclosed. They usually have a postal permit stamp and the company they are addressed to has to pay the postage. I do not fill in the name or supply the information asked: I just put the empty envelope in the mail. If those outfits are going to bother me with their unsolicited mail, at least they are going to have to pay for it."

And so it goes. Each one of us has some pet peeve. And yet, these pet peeves do perform some service. They generally spark someone to do something about it and as a result many little things get done and improvements made. It might be surprising how many good ideas for improving the community have had their origin in somebody's pet peeve.

Double-Edged Sword

Russia's interest in Afghanistan, thus far manifest mainly in Soviet efforts to funnel unsought economic aid into the country, is clear from a glance at any map of Asia. Afghanistan, in geographic terms, is the land highway towards control and domination of India.

Unfortunately for the Kremlin, Soviet foreign economic aid hasn't turned out to be particularly popular with the people of Afghanistan. Quite a number of Afghans, in fact, think it is strictly for the birds. Quite literally, too, because one thing the Kremlin did for Afghanistan was to build a bakery. The bakery is so designed that it can produce only European-style bread, which most Afghans find highly unpalatable compared with their own flat, crusty loaves. Since flour is scarce, and since the Afghan government runs the Russian-built bakery, a good many local bakers have been forced out of business. Meanwhile, Afghan citizens continue to toss to the birds the soft white middle of the loaves which come out of the Russian-built bakery.

Russia's gift of 1,200 trucks also seems to have boomeranged with the Afghans. The trucks break down, and Russian servicing standards for spare parts still leaves much to be desired.

These and other things have led the U.S. state department, in a careful analysis of the consequences of Russian economic aid to Afghanistan, to conclude that "There is evidence to suggest that the Afghans have become somewhat disillusioned about its effects."

Disillusionment can be a potent force when it is set loose. This is particularly true in so-called under-developed countries such as Afghanistan. In this case the Kremlin is the target of disillusionment in Afghanistan. In other cases, disillusionment about foreign aid has been directed towards the Western Powers.

Ex-Finance Minister Proves Canada Land Of Opportunity

MONTREAL (CP) — Hon. Charles Avery Dunning, 73, who came to Canada as a penniless English immigrant of 17, died here a leading executive who once served as a federal finance minister and premier of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Dunning, son of a British tenant farmer, retired from politics in 1939 because of ill health, but he remained active as a businessman and held executive positions with many of Canada's largest companies.

SELF-EDUCATED
A mainly self-educated man, he had been chancellor of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., since 1940, receiving an honorary doctor of laws degree from the institution a year after accepting the post.

He became premier of Saskatchewan in 1922 at the age of 38—Canada's youngest provincial premier at the time—and held the post until 1929 when he was named minister of railways and canals in the federal cabinet of the late Mackenzie King.

In 1929, he was appointed finance minister nine months before the Liberal government was defeated by the Conservatives in a general election and he lost his Regina seat.

Mr. Dunning retired from politics and five years later returned to the finance portfolio in Mackenzie King's third administration.

HEALTH FAILED
But he suffered a heart attack during the 1938 parliamentary session and was able to resume his duties only under severe strain the next year before leaving the political field.

In December of that same year, he was elected a director of the Bank of Montreal and he subsequently took on executive positions with other business firms.

At various stages of his career he was chairman of the board of Ogilvie Flour Mills Company and Canadian Investment Fund Limited and president of the Ontario Equitable Life Assurance Company.

He also held directorships in many other companies including Steel Company of Canada, Sun Life Assurance Company, Canadian Pacific Railway, Consolidated Paper Company and Bell Telephone Company.

TWO FARMS
After leaving politics, he had two farms in Saskatchewan and maintained a residence in Ottawa. In his later years he made his home in Montreal's fashionable Cote des Neiges district.

A boyhood romance took him back to England in 1913 after he had won success in public life and he married the former Ada Rowland.

The couple's two children, Katherine and Charles Avery, survive. Mr. Dunning made contributions to his adopted and native countries in both World Wars.

He was named director of food production for Canada in 1918, a First World War post.

COMMITTEE HEAD
And at the start of the Second World War he became chairman of a national subscription committee to assist the national war loan committee to raise money for defence.

He was also chairman of Allied Supplies Limited, a government-owned company to administer a munitions and explosives program undertaken in Canada on behalf of the British government.

Born in Croft, Leicestershire, England, Mr. Dunning left school at the age of 11 and went to work as an engineer's apprentice.

Officials said orders from dealers throughout the world are pouring in since Guinea became independent from France by voting against the new French constitution last Sunday.

While thousands of white children are deprived of opportunity to go to school through orders of the governors of Virginia and Arkansas, this smiling group of Negro students troop to Booker T. Washington school in Norfolk, Va. Nearby white schools were ordered closed by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond

OTTAWA REPORT

Are Unions Too Strong?

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

OTTAWA—"I know from experience that to be out of work is a very serious thing indeed."

Nobody will disagree with these words, uttered by a speaker at the recent convention of the United Steelworkers of America in Atlantic City. The speaker is the holder of a Canadian unemployment insurance card, who has himself been out of work. He happens now to be our federal Minister of Labor and the man supervising the Unemployment Insurance Commission—the honorable Mike Starr, MP from Oshawa.

"There is a relationship between labor disputes and unemployment," he said. "When you have a strike, a lay-off or a lock-out in a big business industry, whole series of lay-offs tend to follow in subsidiary industries, so that you end up with a chain reaction in unemployment."

MUST ARBITRATE?

The government must consider not only the welfare of workers thrown out of employment by strikes or lockouts affecting other unions and other industries, but also the welfare of the community as a whole. Strikes in public utilities are the outstanding example of damage to the community which should not be permitted. Would our factory workers like our most important public utility, the Royal Canadian Air Force, to walk out just when an enemy bomber force approached their city?

"There now exists in Canada," continued Mr. Starr, "a feeling on many sides that it is time to take a new look at bargaining procedures. . . . Personally I am not in favor of government intervention, but a situation may arise where this becomes implied by the very nature of the public interest involved."

That was stark warning to union leaders. It was also a first ray of hope to the inflation-ridden country.

Have our unions pushed their power too far? Do they now constitute a monopoly in restraint of trade? We insist on the right not to work, or the right to strike, if an employer's terms do not suit us. But should Canadians not also have the right to work—without having to join a union?

REMEMBER THE WIDOWS

Has a union, whose members do not want to perform a certain job on certain conditions, got the right to prevent others accepting that work on those conditions?

The cost of wage increases are passed immediately on to the consumer, in the form of higher prices. The final effect of this wage-price spiral is that all wages go up and all prices are put up, so all wages go up again, and so on. In the end, no worker is better off, while pensioners and widows and children are much worse off. But of course the tax collector benefits.

A wage rate increase is a sham of no lasting benefit. But a wage boost coming from higher output is a real increase in income. To halt inflation, should not the wage for the job be frozen, and higher incomes be dependent upon increasing output or by graduating to a more highly-skilled job? This may sound like heresy, but is it not preferable to continuing inflation?

Today approximately 1,250,000 members of unions use the method of strike and picket line—often against their judgment and wishes—to try to obtain a larger slice of the national pie, at the expense of the 4,750,000 workers who are not members of unions, and at the expense of over 1,000,000 pensioners who cannot bargain. This minority of Canadians is perpetuating inflation, which not even they want. God bless enterprise. But if this be enterprise, a preferable slogan is "Love thy neighbor."

Rumor Gordon Offered Big U.S. Position

OTTAWA (CP)—A rumor has it that CNR President Donald Gordon has been offered a job in the United States for a salary substantially higher than his $75,000 a year from the government-owned railway.

A government source said today no more than the rumor has reached here, however. There had been no indication from Mr. Gordon that he had any job change under consideration.

The rumor is that Mr. Gordon has been offered the presidency of the Chase National Bank in the U.S. at a salary of possibly $100,000 to $150,000 a year. This bank is said to be interested in Mr. Gordon because of his long experience in both banking and railways.

The 56-year-old CNR president and former head of the wartime prices and trade board started his career at 15 in the Bank of Nova Scotia and was assistant manager of its Toronto branch when he entered government service in 1933 as secretary of the Bank of Canada.

He became head of the CNR's sprawling interests in 1950. It is the highest paying government job in Canada.

The government source said the story is that the Chase bank does a lot of business with U.S. railways and has approached Mr. Gordon with this aspect of its operations especially in mind.

NOTHING NEW

An imaginary trip to the moon was described by a Greek satirist in 160 AD—18 centuries before earth satellites.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

"CAN THERE BE ANY GOOD THING COME OUT OF NAZARETH?"

As all my readers will know, these are words of Nathanael who who quite evidently did not live in Nazareth. Thus we see, even in New Testament times, the pettiness and spite which existed between small towns. Wherever you go, up and down this country, you find the same rivalry and it is something which I consider objectionable and offensive.

The objection taken by the authorities in Vernon to the site at Edillon for an airport which might look for federal assistance is all part of the narrow parochialism to which I refer. Not only has Vernon objected but so also has Penticton, fearing evidently that business might be taken away from that city. These objections show clearly the limited viewpoint taken by the authorities in these cities. They do not seem to see that the day is coming when we shall have aircraft which will expect to make these short journeys and it is my independent opinion that Kelowna authorities are most wise in spending time, money and effort to be ready for that day.

I am afraid there is no doubt that government sometimes feels that it has to consider local prejudices. In fact I was told so by one of these people. There are inter-city or inter-town jealousies which go far beyond the stage of friendly rivalry. Surely we ought to grow up and stop acting like children who go running to mother or father and say, "Johnny has it and I should have had it."

For years Kelowna has struggled to get an airport just as Castlegar did in the Kootenay country. Now that she is likely to have a really good one, there appears to be griping by our neighbors to north and south. Frankly, I think it is too bad, and shows an unworthy spirit.

This local nastiness is simply a sample of other more deeply engrained parochialism. We are in grave danger of similar nastiness from the provincial angle. Substitute province for town and government for council and the picture is largely unchanged. It is my guess that the federal government has to watch for this petty jealousy and to make sure that it does not lay itself open to charges that favoritism has been shown. Thus, instead of being able to concentrate upon good government, the federal people have to spend much time making sure that no one's provincial toes are being trodden upon. It all seems very petty to me.

Then, of course, the whole country has to have a whipping boy. The modern version of the quotation at the head of this column would be, "Can there be any good thing come out of Toronto?" Because some silly fellow on a Toronto paper writes some nonsense about Doukhobors, about whom he knows nothing, we are urged to send all these strange people of Slavic origin to Toronto. But why Toronto? Why not to the office of the Toronto Telegram which published the item? Why blame Toronto for what the Telegram says? It is just as sensible to malign Kelowna for what I write, and I am sure there are some on the staff of the local paper who will cry "Hear! Hear!" to that one.

Finally, if anyone should read this in Penticton or Vernon, may I plead for a somewhat more generous attitude between our towns? Life is not made more pleasant by these carping criticisms, these exhibitions of ill-will.

Eisenhower, Dulles Now Change Tune

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In the space of a few days, State Secretary Dulles and President Eisenhower have changed from the position that the loss of Quemoy and Matsu would threaten the security of Formosa to the view that it is probably foolish to have so many Nationalist Chinese troops cooped up there under Communist guns.

Perhaps this is the flexibility Dulles recently claimed for his Formosa policy, but in giving his new views at a press conference in Washington on Tuesday he denied he had changed his footing. Chiang Kai-shek wasn't mistaken, though. He expressed dismay at this altered tune.

To make it quite plain, President Eisenhower told his press conference this week that Quemoy and Matsu aren't vital to Formosa's defence. In a broadcast to the American people Sept. 11, he said exactly the opposite.

SOMETHING NEW
Dulles made these other points which modify earlier U.S. attitudes on the Formosa Strait fighting. Chiang's troops on the offshore islands, more than a third of his total forces, should be withdrawn if a cease-fire can be arranged. It would be "quite impractical and impossible" to expect Red China to agree to renounce force if Nationalist China won't, also do so. This is something new. Chiang is usually looked on as the innocent party.

The U.S. has no commitment to help the Nationalists return to inland China and even if they did get back, it is doubtful whether Chiang would head the government. This was unusually plain talk for a country that still recognizes Chiang as the only Chinese chief of state.

HEAT FELT

Dulles, although he reiterated that the U.S. will defend the Quemoy and Matsu islands against Communist attack, made it sound that the Nationalists had gone ahead with their military build-up of the islands against American wishes.

Strong pressure for a change in U.S. policy has been growing abroad and at home since the latest Formosa Strait shooting began two months ago.

Of 5,000 letters to the Eisenhower government from voters, 80 per cent criticized the policy to defend Quemoy and Matsu. A sizable section of the U.S. press and politicians in both parties have questioned the government's position.

The president and the secretary, with elections for Congress a month away, may be trying to get the heat turned off. More than anything, perhaps, Dulles wants to keep up the talks with the Communist Chinese representatives at Warsaw, where the U.S. is trying to arrange a cease-fire.

"SPORT OF KINGS" THIS WEEKEND

Weekend attraction for lovers of the "Sport of Kings" will be the B.C. Interior Annual Hunter and Jumper Show, at G. D. Cameron's Guisachan Farm starting at 12:30. Top flight horses and riders will be competing in 10 hunter and jump events, as well as individual tent-pegging championships. Highrigger, (SHOWN ABOVE) Tony Tozer's entry in the B.C. Horse of the Year show in Vancouver, and Jay Lalonde's Valley Belle will again battle it out for top honors with other well-known valley horses. Trophies have been donated by Don Lange for open jumping, and by Calona Wines Ltd., for aggregate score. Judge for this show will be Miss April French-Mullins, internationally known equitation expert, who conducts the Maple Ridge Equitation Centre at Haney, B.C.

Adams River Sockeye Run Late But Centennial Show Goes On Regardless

The famous sockeye salmon run, normally due to arrive in the Salmon Arm area around Thanksgiving Day (Oct. 13), is expected to be delayed approximately one week.

Despite this unforeseen circumstance, the B.C. and Chase-Salmon Arm centennial committees intend to go ahead with the celebrations for the long weekend. Several thousands of salmon are expected to be in the area at that time.

However, plans for a special Thanksgiving Day weekend excursion from the coast to Shuswap Lake to see the return of the spawning salmon has been postponed one week.

More than 1,500,000 sockeye are milling around the Gulf of Georgia and only now are beginning to enter the Fraser River for their annual spawning run.

They can't possibly arrive at the Adams River in time for Thanksgiving.

SHOW GOES ON

So the special excursion, sponsored by the Fisheries Association of B.C. has been delayed to the weekend of Oct. 17-19. The train will leave the CPR station at Vancouver at 9 p.m. Friday, Oct. 17, arriving back in Vancouver the following Sunday.

The fare includes meals, entertainment.

L. J. Wallace, chairman of the B.C. Centennial Committee, said that the "Salute to the Sockeye Celebration" at the Squilax Reserve will go on as usual, despite the fact that the main run will be late in arriving.

Elaborate arrangements have been prepared on a special section of the Squilax Reserve. One section will be sponsored by the Chase-Salmon Arm centennial committee and will highlight Indian tribal dancing, Royal Canadian Navy concerts, square dancing and various rides and games.

Another section will have a special fisheries exhibition building, as well as a large marquee. Within the building there will be exhibits sponsored by the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, Fisheries Association of B.C., International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission, Department of Recreation and Conservation, Victoria, and other fishing agencies.

In this centennial year of the province, the B.C. Centennial Committee has made the annual salmon run at the Shuswap Lake a special centennial event.

Every year, the Adams River, running red with sockeye salmon, is one of the stirring sights of the year. This year, when the main run hits around Oct. 19, it is expected to be more so, because of the record number of salmon returning to their place of birth to carry out Mother Nature's regeneration program.

North St. Due For Changing

Steps have been taken by city council to change the name of a third Kelowna thoroughfare. Earlier "Pendo" was changed to "Pandosy" and Glenn to Lawrence.

This week, council adopted a resolution that would in effect, when given official approval by the Land Registry Office, at Kamloops, change part of North St. and two blocks of Bath St. to Abbott St.

Council intends, in this way, to extend Abbott St. from Bernard to the city limits. The street will be anything but a straight line, as Abbott curves and jogs its way south along the lake-shore from the city's main street, Bernard Ave.

The transition from what is now Bath St. to Abbott St., a matter of about half a block, will remain as is—Wardlaw Ave.

Kelowna To Look After Pridham Applications

Kelowna has agreed to Glenmore's request to take care of all applications for sewer connections and inspection of plumbing installations on the Pridham estate subdivision.

Glenmore municipal council made the request in a letter to city council this week. Glenmore sought this concession "until such time as the current boundary question" is clarified.

When that will be is almost anybody's guess. Some time ago it was apparent that special provincial legislation would be required even before the question of amalgamation could be put to the Glenmore and Kelowna electors.

The two interested councils, however, still haven't heard from Victoria in regard to the request for special legislation. It now appears unlikely that the matter of Kelowna extending its boundaries to include the Bankhead section of Glenmore can be decided by the voters at the December municipal elections.

Two Aldermen On Executives

Aldermen Jackson, Horton and Knox, the city's official delegates to last week's convention at Nanaimo of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, made only brief comments on the convention at this week's city council meeting. They are preparing more elaborate reports for presentation at next week's meeting.

However, it was learned that Ald. Jackson had been elected to the UBCM executive, and during an annual meeting of the B.C. Municipalities Council just before the UBCM party, Ald. Horton was named to the executive.

Funeral Rites Saturday For G. A. Spangler

George Alfred Spangler, a resident of Winfield for the past four years, died at the Vernon hospital Wednesday. He was 66 years of age.

Funeral service will be held at First United Church in Kelowna Saturday at 11 a.m. with Rev. S. Leitch officiating. Burial will be at the Kelowna cemetery. Members of St. George's Masonic Lodge, No. 41, will be pallbearers.

The late Mr. Spangler was born at Spencer, Iowa, moving to Rolla, in the Peace River country 46 years ago, where he took up trapping and prospecting. Later he started working for the B.C. government on construction projects, spending 35 years at this occupation and retiring in 1954, at which time he and his wife moved to Winfield, where Mrs. Spangler's mother resided. He was a member of the Peace Masonic Lodge No. 126 at Dawson Creek, B.C.

Besides his wife Fern, and mother-in-law, the widow of Harvey C. Neil, he leaves one daughter, Thelma (Mrs. James Hunter), Port St. John, and two grand children, Kelowna. Funeral directors have been entrusted with the arrangements.

Initial Concert For Music Lovers

VERNON—The North Okanagan Community Concerts Association will present the first concert of the current season next Tuesday in the senior high school auditorium. The artist will be David Bar-Ilan, a brilliant young Israeli pianist. His program includes works of Beethoven and Chopin, as well as those of contemporary composers.

POLICE COURT

Charged in district police court with exceeding the 30 miles an hour speed limit on the Rutland Road, Tony Martin Schonberger was fined $20 and costs.

Appearing in city police court Wednesday on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, James Colton Smith was fined $15 and costs.

Three transients were fined $15 and costs each in city police court for being intoxicated in a public place. Fined were William Dunlop, William Kostehen and Allan Angus Sangster. Andrew Joseph Arsenault was fined $25 and costs on the same charge.

Two juvenile-aged boys were fined $5 each in juvenile court this week for riding their bikes at night without a light and for riding double.

Fine of $15, plus costs, was imposed in juvenile court this week on a 16-year-old boy for carrying a loaded firearm in a motor vehicle.

Two boys appeared in juvenile court this week on charges of breach of probation. The older boy, 17, was charged with a second offence and fined $25 and costs. The second boy, 16, was fined $10 and costs and had a strict 7 p.m. curfew imposed for the next 30 days.

Owners Apply For Rezoning

City council this week began studying two applications for rezoning of property in residential zones to industrial dwelling. One application is from N. Mussallan, 1922 Pandosy St., who points out that the large lot and large house cannot be subdivided and that owing to illness he is unable to keep the property tidy. He requested council take the necessary steps so that he can convert the house into five suites.

Second request was from C. Rampone, R.R. 3, for property situated at Boyce Crescent, lots E and D, Map 462. When council was considering rezoning several lots in this vicinity earlier this year, Mr. Rampone at that time showed no interest.

OBJECTIVE $25,000

Blind People Depend On Your Donation To Community Chest

"People who live in Community Chest areas do not realize how lucky they are."

This remark came from a man who should know—J. C. Hembling, field secretary for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The CNIB is one of 14 organizations that will participate in funds collected in the Red Feather campaign which opens here next Monday.

Objective of the two-week "blitz" is $25,000.

On the eve of the campaign, Mr. Hembling outlined briefly some of the work undertaken by the CNIB to assist less-fortunate people. Some of the money, he explained, is to be used to furnish "talking books," professional narrators recorded machines, and phonographs that the blind may "read" these narratives. The readings range from children's fairy tales to Bible readings and Shakespearean plays.

He said in south eastern B.C. alone there are 247 registered blind persons. This service is provided to them free of charge.

VISIT CENTRES

Another service is the distribution of braille literature to these people and instructions in its use from experts such as himself. Periodically highly trained teachers visit various centres and conduct classes in handicrafts for the blind. All this from only a part of your community chest donation.

Education and rehabilitation take a large portion of the budget.

Education not only of the blind, but of the sighted. In the case of a blind infant, for instance, not only must the child be taught to live in a world of sighted people, but his parents must be taught to compensate for the handicapped child—to teach him to walk and talk, to wash and dress himself. Certainly this task is far greater than with a sighted child.

Once each year we are given an opportunity to help them. Some organizations such as the local chapters of the IOOE and the Kelowna Lions club work the year round to help these persons less fortunate than themselves.

These particular clubs are highly commended by Mr. Hembling, for through the years they have donated phonograph machines, records, braille books and handicraft materials to blind persons throughout the Okanagan.

These people help all year. We are asked to help once.

CLOSE CO-OPERATION

Mr. Hembling pointed out that the CNIB works in close co-operation with such government agencies as the public health department and the social welfare offices.

Through this co-operation has come such benefits as the blind pension allowance, and the establishment of the school for the blind in Vancouver.

"The people of this province owe a debt of gratitude to the individuals who have initiative to set up these programs," he said.

Once each year we are able to show this loyalty, and to help the CNIB realize their motto: "To help the blind help themselves."

Vernon Soldier Off To Lebanon

VERNON—Captain Peter deWolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. deWolf, of Kalamalka Lake, left Montreal this week to serve in Lebanon for about a year. His wife and four children will remain in Canada.

Born in Coldstream, and educated in Vernon schools, Capt. deWolf is now attached to the Royal Canadian Engineers. He was a paratrooper in World War Two. Following the cessation of hostilities, he attended University of B.C., Vancouver, remaining with the Canadian Army ever since.

Penticton Man Heads Credit Bureau Of B.C.

Swinney, Cranbrook, vice-president; Thomas Downie, Vancouver, secretary-treasurer, and Charles Pearce, Courtenay; Mrs. Margaret Campbell, New Westminster; W. G. Ellis, Victoria; Mrs. Stella McGowan, Quesnel, directors. Matters pertaining to consumer credit were thoroughly discussed by the 50-odd delegates.

New Postage Stamp Marks N.S. Assembly

Canada Post Office today issued a new five-cent stamp. The stamp commemorates the establishment of the first elected assembly in Canada, that of Nova Scotia which began in 1758. Grey in color, the new issue pictures a mace and throne, and written in French and English are the words: "The first elected assembly of Nova Scotia—marked the beginning of our democratic government."

Dad's Weekend Sports Cup Overflows With Contests

By GEORGE INGLIS
(Casual Sports Editor)

All the power in the Yanks' bank couldn't put them together again after the Braves got through with their first bats yesterday.

Those Milwaukee Braves, while lacking much of the glitzy glamour the Yanks have worn like a mantle for the past decade or so, had far too much on the old ball for Casey Stengel's Yanks in the second game of the World Series, down in County Stadium in Milwaukee. In fact, they had so much on the ball that it was only the statisticians who were happy, chalking up several more records into the book.

Maybe the biggest thing the Braves had on the ball was possessed by the guy who was the Yanks' Nemesis in last year's World Series—Lew Burdette. The angular right-hander who beat Casey Stengel's glitter boys three times last year not only beat them from the mound, but he also clouted a three-run homer that helped sink the Yankees in New York for the third game on Saturday, and it's almost in the cards for the hosts to take one game, but they don't seem to be the logical choice to win much more than that, unless there is a distinct reversal of form on the part of both clubs. However, a club with all the power the Yanks have are never out, even though they may be slightly down.

No matter how many they jam into the Yankee Stadium, however, they will have a hard time getting together as enthusiastic a crowd as the 40,000-odd happy, beer-guzzling people who watched their recently-acquired Braves come into their own again. And no matter how many paid admissions they get, they'll never be able to compute the millions of people who listen to the games all over the world.

It's a king-sized sports spectacle.

THE ECHOES OF THE FOURTH AND MAYBE FINAL game will barely have died away on Sunday, however, when the Elks' Stadium, down in Kelowna's Exhibition Grounds, will awaken to the sounds of the final ball game of this season.

This tussle, between the Kelowna Orioles and the Kamloops Okonots for the championship of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League, may lack many of the attendant spectacles, but there's one thing that both the World Series and the OMBL championships have in common—damn good baseball.

With the improved calibre of the league this year, these clubs had to be good to make their way into the finals, and if anything, they are probably more evenly balanced than the Braves and the Yanks, and have to struggle all the way before a winner is decided, in most of their games.

Another thing they have in common is injuries. The Orioles have pitcher Len Gatin, on the mend from a shoulder injury, and their regular catcher was ruled out after he had been sidelined with injuries and replaced. Coach Gatin came back in last Sunday, however, and should be even fitter for this Sunday.

Coach Hank Tostenson's southpaw, Jack Denbow, the fellow who beat the Orioles with his change-of-pace pitching last Sunday, has been sidelined with an injured arm he suffered in the fourth inning of the game up there, and Ray Scott, a dependable right-handed reliever and sometimes starter, is suffering from a bad leg, so it will be all up to Les Schaefer this Sunday.

Hank is not stymied, however, if Schaefer gets into hot water, since he can call on Bill Martino or Bob Radies, both of whom have taken their turn on the mound in the past. If he did in the final league game against Oliver, when he had to use more pitchers than Casey Stengel and still couldn't avoid disaster.

If Hank's pitching holds up, it will be largely a case of how well his hitting department is operating, since his real strength lies at the plate. Another thing that could help the boys along would be a crowd like they had in Kamloops, 1,200 strong.

Let's make it a date for Sunday.

THIS SATURDAY NIGHT IS HOCKEY NIGHT again. In the Memorial Arena, with the Seattle Totems facing the Kelowna Packers in the second exhibition game of the season for the local club.

For the fans who weren't able to watch the famed Guyle Fielder in action this summer in the annual all-star game, this will be an opportunity to watch the bewitching centre work. He's unquestionably a craftsman at the pivot spot, and makes the poorest wingman look good, providing he can take advantage of the set-ups.

This colorful hockey club, under coach Keith Allen, will be making the swing wearing their new name "Totems" for the first time, and they will only make two appearances, with the Packers being singled out as the only senior "A" club they will face in pre-season exhibition.

The fans who stayed away in bunches from Wednesday's thrilling exhibition should make it a point, to see this one. Don't get carried away with the idea that this is "only exhibition hockey." These pre-season games mean dollars in the pocket to a pro club in early-season attendance, and they mean necessary prestige to the Packers.

Each player would have had to be twins to put out more than they did on Wednesday.

WHILE WE ARE ON THE SUBJECT of Wednesday, this "challenge match" between coach Hal Lavoe's Royals and Jack O'Reilly's Packers should be a real sizzler, Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Prince Hal was simply wild-eyed with annoyance at the way his boys performed on Wednesday night, and he's out to prove that they can do better by playing the Packers again. So set was he on the game that he cancelled out a slated engagement against the Vancouver Canucks, the big wheels of the WHL, in order to clear the date.

And the part to watch for in the game is the WHL rule enforcement, centering around boarding, freezing the puck and fighting. If properly administered, these rules really succeed in the game, and clubs in the WHL, as well as hockey students all over the country, have been eyeing the WHL lately, and liking what they see.

Mind you, these rules don't have much to say in holding down an outburst of temper once it gets under way, but the stiff penalty resulting from one such fracas, discourages the next one.

The real beauty of the rules, however, is the speed at which the game progresses, without those annoying halts for face-offs caused by a desperate defender freezing the puck against the boards, and causes more play around the goal, giving the poor old goalie more work, but the fans more thrills. Come out on Tuesday and see for yourself, the game will be under WHL rules with a WHL official enforcing them.

That makes it an enjoyable weekend, sport, with a hockey game Saturday night, a ball game Sunday afternoon, and another hockey game on Tuesday. They're all one-time shots, so get out and have a look at them.

AND DON'T FORGET YOUR HOCKEY SEASON TICKETS.

Orioles Seek Wrap-Up Of Crown Here Sunday

Franks New Skating Pro At Nelson

Another Kelowna figure skater has left the Orchard City to take up duties as a club professional. John Franks, 21-year-old "veteran" of the Kelowna Figure Skating Club, is leaving Monday to take up duties as club pro at Nelson.

Franks, who passed his sixth figure test and senior bronze dance at Mrs. Jean Ross Beaton's summer school here this year, has been well known in Okanagan-Mainline and western Canadian competition for the past few years.

Earlier this year, he won the junior men's singles at the western Canadian championships in Vancouver, and teamed up with Lou Orwell of Kelowna to take the junior mixed pairs.

REMEMBER WHEN...

Bucky Walters yielded only three hits as Cincinnati defeated Detroit Tigers 5-3, to even the world series at one victory each 18 years ago today. Cincinnati went on to win the series in a full seven games, ending a five-year run by American League teams—four New York Yankees triumphs following one by Detroit.

The Elks' Stadium will witness it's own world series on Sunday.

At 2:30 p.m., soon after the echoes of the fourth World Series game in New York have died away, the Kelowna Orioles will start trying to dump the Kamloops Okonots and wind up this year's OMBL play.

Should the Orioles come through, the series will wind up the following week in Kamloops. At any event, Sunday's game will be the last one in Kelowna this season.

THRILLING GAME

Coach Hank Tostenson walled the pill over the fence on the O's behalf last week, as the defending champions pasted the challengers in their home park, 7-5, in a real thriller, watched by 1,200 fans.

This week, however, he is faced with injuries to two of his pitching staff. Jack Denbow and Ray Scott, Denbow, who pitched the winner last week, threw his arm out delivering a knuckle ball in the fourth, and will be out of any event. Sunday's game will be the last one in Kelowna this season.

hander, as the starter. Should Schaefer get into trouble, he will have to call on centre fielder Bill Martino or auxiliary man Bob Radies, both of whom have carried the pitching duties in the past.

TOUGH LINE-UP

Okies' Len Gatin, out with injuries recently himself, will be fitter this week than he was last week, and should have a tough line-up to face the O's with.

The big problem is the fact that both clubs call on hitting power for most of their strength, and whichever club gets away at the plate is going to take the ball game.

Gatin, a heavy hitter himself, has Jack and Len Fowles, Buck Buchanan and Gordon Beecroft, all of whom are known as long ball hitters, plus a few more base-knockers.

Tostenson has his "Murderers"

Row," of Bill Martino, Frank Fritz and Bob Campbell, a trio who can strike terror into any chucker's heart in this league.

PLENTY OF HITTERS

Johnny Culos, the O's field general, has been proving to be a long-ball hitter, himself lately, and the line-up is sprinkled with men who have come up with clutch hits when needed.

"The big thing I'd like to see on Sunday, even more than my hitters coming through," coach Tostenson said today, "is a crowd like they had in Kamloops on Sunday."

"Boy, those 1,200 people just lifted both clubs up, and brought the best out of them. It makes playing the game worthwhile."

Winners of the Quesnel Tournament this year, and money winners in the Lethbridge tournament, the O's lost their pennant this year to the Okies, and they are determined they are going to wrap up the championship this weekend, at home.

Packers To Try Carving Totems

Kelowna fans will see the new name and under new ownership, but still coached by Keith Allen and spearheaded by the bewitching Guyle Fielder, will be seeking to upset the Packers' apple cart, and coach Jack O'Reilly's boys will be out to make their exhibition record against the pros unanimous.

Allen, in his third year as coach, has plenty of proven talent on hand, with a sprinkling of highly-rated youngsters to fill up his holes and the two rookies he is required to add each year.

At centre, in addition to the incomparable playmaking Fielder, he has Rudy Fillion from last year's club. Gerry Leonard, the Edmonton boy who gave such a classy performance two years ago with Penitents V's, and Marc Bouleau, from Indianapolis of the IHL.

Right wingers Con Chupka and Alex Kuzma from last year's club will have Clare Walkshinski as a rival. Walkshinski, with the V's last year, has signed a voluntary draft to come to the Packers if he fails to make the pro club this year.

Defence corps regular Gordie Sinclair, the top man of the club's rearguard, has mates Bill Davidson, Lionel Repka and Les Hunt, and two tryouts, Frank Arnett and Jim Hay. Hay, known as "Red Eye", not without cause, is one of the color boys of the WHL.

Allen will be going with Bill Tibbs in goal, the classy netminder who blinked the Vancouver Canucks in two meetings last year, while playing with New Westminster.

Berwick said Thursday night Durelle has rejected his offer for a 10-round non-title match against unranked Johnny McCoy of New York. No amounts were disclosed.

The Rider-Stamper clash is a big one for both clubs, who have a game in hand over the other three going into this weekend.

Bombers lead the league with 16 points, five more than Riders and Esks and six more than Calgary. B.C. has lost all 10.

Coach Bud Grant hasn't made any predictions for his Bombers, who could just about sew up first place with a double weekend victory, but he's bringing along new halfback Bob Stransky to rub it in should Eskimos lose.

Stransky, a halfback from Baltimore Colts who was plucked from Eskimos' hands when Bombers placed him on their negotiation list while Edmonton was too busy talking to him to make the protection move first, will be running for Bob McNamara, suffering a knee injury.

Grant said quarterback Kenny Ploen, out for four games with a shoulder injury, may miss the Edmonton game and get back into action against Saskatchewan Monday. Reports indicate he may run as a halfback as long as Jim Van Pelt's fabulous success at quarter continues. Van Pelt has led Bombers to four victories since Ploen was hurt, including last Monday's 43-13 whipping of Edmonton.

TOUGHER DEFENCE
Eskimos coach Sam Lyle, meanwhile, says Bombers can look for a tougher defence Saturday.

"We had played Saskatchewan twice and had our defence set against a passing attack," said Lyle after the Winnipeg trouncing. "We didn't have time to adjust for the Bomber running game."

Eskimos have fullback Normie Kwong and end Steve Bendlak hurting with ankle and knee injuries respectively, but both are expected to start. New halfback Ralph Pfeiffer from Detroit Lions is expected to get into the lineup for the first time, probably in place of Don Flynn.

Eskies On Spot Against Blues

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Edmonton Eskimos get their last chance of the schedule at Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night in Edmonton.

If they muffed it as they have their other three, all but mathematical hope will be lost for Esks to grab their sixth straight pennant in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Some feel they'll have to hurry to catch one of the three playoff berths.

The WHL has four games scheduled during the weekend. Esks at home against Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders at Calgary Stampede Saturday night; Bombers at Regina and Stampede in Vancouver against British Columbia Lions Monday.

Depending on the outcome of the Rider and Calgary games, Eskimos could be in fourth place by Tuesday morning if they drop their Bomber encounter.

Britain's NHL A Canuck Haven

By KEN MEHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Britain's National Hockey League opened its 1958-59 season Thursday night with a new entry and all teams heavily loaded, as usual, with Canadian players.

The honor of opening the 61-game Autumn Cup schedule, which makes up the first half of the season, was given to Edinburgh Royals, who stepped in to take over the Harringay Racers' franchise when the London club folded during the summer break. Royals, with eight Canadians and three Scots-born players in the lineup, downed the veteran Wembley Lions 11-2. By the end of the week the remaining clubs in the five-team loop — Nottingham Panthers, Paisley Pirates and Brighton Tigers—also will have seen action.

"We are looking forward to a good season," said J. F. (Bunny) Ahearn, league secretary and the man largely responsible for introducing Canada's winter sport to Britain in the 1930s. Last year about 850,000 fans watched league games, an increase of about 100,000 over the previous season. "We hope to do even better this year," Sgt. H. G. (Gordie) Scott, a member of the RCAF's pay section at the Canadian Joint Staff in London, is captain of Wembley. Scott, a 28-year-old right winger, led his club with 35 goals last season. He scored one of the Lions' goals Thursday night.

The Edinburgh club has assembled a strong team under playing coach Vic Krekiewicz, who is taking a holiday from his painting and decorating business at Yorkton, Sask. Kiekiewicz will share defence duties with Lloyd Orvis of Flin Flon, Man.; Ed Flamak of Melville, Sask.; and Johnny Carlisle, a native of Edinburgh. Coaching chores will be handled by American-born Jimmy Matson, who played with Clinton, N.Y., last season. Matson formerly played with the Brandon, Man., juniors.

The forward line is made up of Vern Paschal of Yorkton, the leading scorer last night with three goals; George Laub, Dazell, Sask.; Ted McCaskill, Kapuskasing, Ont.; Joe Krekiewicz—"I'm not related to the coach"—of Melville; and two Scots-born

Heavy Spoiler, Anthony Trying

BALTIMORE (AP)—Tony Anthony tries tonight for the second time in a month to chop his way into the heavyweight boxing picture against Archie McBride.

The televised fight is scheduled for 10 rounds.

Anthony won a decision over McBride last month. The 24-year-old Anthony is trying to move into the heavy division after fighting his way to No. 2 among light-heavyweights.

He won 34 of his 40 bouts before tangling with McBride, who is known in the trade as a spoiler. McBride, 29, has fought most of the ranking heavyweights, including champion Floyd Patterson. His record is 21 victories in 35 bouts.

MISSING VETERAN

Missing from league play this season will be one of the most illustrious names in the British ice game—Chick Zamick of Winnipeg and former playing coach of Nottingham Panthers. The 29-year-old sharpshooter, who scored more than 700 goals and was credited with almost as many assists in 11 years with Panthers, now is coaching a Swiss club in Geneva.

Coaching duties at Nottingham have been taken over by veteran defenceman Lorne Smith of Port Credit, Ont., who has played with Panthers for several seasons.

All In Time . . . Burdette Pours

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Braves' Lew Burdette kept a corps of sports writers, radio and television personnel waiting for five minutes Thursday while he went through "the ritual."

"The ritual" consists of carrying cans of cold beer from one end of the Braves' clubhouse to a table in the middle, opening and passing them out to his fellow pitchers. Tradition assigns the task to the winning pitcher.

Not a question would be answered until "the ritual" was completed.

"I got something to do before I can say anything," he told

Braves Not Cocky, Yanks Are Chipper

NEW YORK (AP) — Two up who thinks the situation is desperate. That's the world series picture today as the Braves and Yankees make a 24-hour breather following there isn't a New York Yankee.

WORLD SERIES NOTES

MILWAUKEE (AP) — They got the important business out of the way early at County Stadium Thursday. By the end of the first inning, when the baby sitter barely had time to locate the beer, the Braves were ahead 7-1. Net receipts for the two were $554,527.20. Players' share $282,808.88.

As it was, the Braves' management provided the faithful with a little bonus to stick around. They promised to demonstrate the new automatic infield tarpaulin after the game.

Hank Bauer led off with a single for New York—as he did Wednesday—and extended his record to 16 consecutive world series games in which he has hit safely.

The Braves' seven runs in the first were the most scored on the Yankees in a series inning since the Giants brought home eight in 1921, and the most ever scored in the first inning of a series game. Most ever scored in one 2:58 p.m. By the end of the series inning, Ten, by the Athletics many of the fans had letics against the Cubs in 1929.

Attendance was exactly the same as the first game—46,367—mainly because the fire laws are a little tough about having people sit on other peoples' laps. Net receipts for the two were $554,527.20. Players' share $282,808.88.

Billy Bruton, last man up in the first game and first man up for the Braves Thursday, received a rousing roar when he slammed a home run to start the Braves on their record-breaking inning.

After posting seven runs for the Braves in the first inning, the operator of the scoreboard got carried away and mistakenly added an eighth run to the first inning total when the Braves tallied again in the second.

Although the sun was still shining brightly, the field lights were turned on at the start of the seventh inning. The time was 2:58 p.m. By the end of the series inning, Ten, by the Athletics many of the fans had letics against the Cubs in 1929.

the American League champions that gave Milwaukee a 2-0 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Despite their crushing defeat, ever absorbed in series competition, the Yankees were confident they could turn the tables on the Braves, winning at least two of the three games in Yankee Stadium.

LARSEN NEXT

Manager Casey Stengel, who saw his left and righthanded aces Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, driven from the mound in two successive days, will rely on Don Larsen, another righthander, to put the Yankees in the winning column when hostilities are resumed Saturday.

Manager Fred Haney, who continues to withhold his starting pitcher until practically before game time, finally broke down and said: "It will be either Bob Rush or Juan Pizarro."

The guess is that it will be Rush. The big righthander gets the call over the young left-hander because of his greater experience. Rush had a 10-6 record during the season. Larsen was 9-6, he Yankees are 7-to-5 favorites for the third game.

The series odds, which favor Milwaukee at 11 to 5, failed to dampen Stengel's faith.

NOT "ROSY"

"Sure, we're not in what I would call a rosy position," Stengel said. "But this thing is not over by a long shot. Why, only two years ago we lost the first two to Brooklyn. I seem to remember that we won it at the end, didn't we? There's no law that says we can't do it again. You just never know about those things until they happen. Then you know."

Haney said: "It's far from over. All I'm looking forward to is Saturday's ball game. We'll play them one at a time. All right, so we're two in front. That's two they can't win."

Warren Spahn, who probably will pitch the fourth game Sunday, said he figures it will take six games for the Braves to repeat last year's triumph.

EVERYBODY KNOWS

"These Yankees are tough," he said. "And nobody on this club is forgetting it."

Perhaps the Yankee optimism was the result of their three-run ninth-inning outburst against Burdette.

He had a three-hitter and had retired 15 straight men going into the last inning. Four straight hits, including home runs by Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle, put him in trouble for the only time since the first inning when, the Yanks scored first and had the bases loaded before the first double play of the series pulled him out of it.

But Burdette dug up a little something extra in the ninth and three straight putouts followed gel said. "But this thing is not the four hits.

Authors Of New Book Deplore Leaning On All-Purpose Pills

By DOROTY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — If the happy pill boom keeps on at its present rate, women will be too relaxed to fall in love and men will be too tranquil to care.

This is the horrifying prediction of two bright young men who have declared war on the modern philosophy that there's a pill for everything.

They are Harry Middleton and Warren Kiefer, authors of the just published novel, Pax, a highly entertaining slap at the mushrooming drug business in America.

"Just don't think everybody should get that relaxed," says Middleton. "You need to get mad or worried or tense once in a while, or you'll never do anything. Most of the great things accomplished in the world have been done by people who were blazing mad about something."

"This thing is really getting out of bounds," says Kiefer. "People take tranquilizer pills to keep them calm during the day, sleeping pills to put them to sleep at night and pep pills to wake them up in the morning."

ALL-PURPOSE PILLS

"Now I hear they have an all-purpose capsule which releases various pills on schedule, over a 24-hour period. There are tranquilizers for part of the day, pep pills for other periods, sleeping pills and built-in alarms—pills to wake you up. This, I feel, is going too far. A man shouldn't surrender every reaction of life to a pill."

The authors are quick to concede that tranquilizer pills are important and effective in the treatment of many ills, when taken under medical supervision.

But they feel these drugs shouldn't be eaten like popcorn. "Although some of these drugs are 4,000 years old, they didn't hit the American market with the full blast of modern advertising and promotion methods until about five years ago," says Middleton. "Drug companies hit on them at an ideal time."

FORTUNES MADE

"The whole country was in a state of national jitters, and hypo-chondria was the national malady. That's one of the main reasons why drug companies have been cleaning up vast fortunes in the last decade, why drug stocks have skyrocketed, and why the country is being sold on the idea that there's no tragedy a pill can't cure."

They take a dim view of a world where life is controlled by pills.

"People are spending $100,000,000 a year on these happy pills," says Kiefer. "Now they've discovered a new market in the animal kingdom. What excitement would there be in life if nobody ever got mad or frightened any more, and if dogs didn't bark?"

GIRL GUIDE NOTES

The B.C. Girl Guide Association will be hostesses to approximately 85 Commissioners from Alberta and British Columbia when they take part in a week-end conference commencing Oct. 3, at the Christian Leadership Training School at Naramata, B.C.

Topics embracing various aspects of the Girl Guide Commission's responsibility were agreed upon by a national committee, and the forthcoming discussions form part of a country-wide scheme to review methods and exchange new ideas. An Eastern Canadian Regional conference on the same topics was held at St. Sauveur, P.Q. Overall results will be considered at a national conference next June in Montreal.

The conference will be under the direction of Mrs. Ewart Slavert of Montreal and will be attended by Mrs. W. H. Schlosser, Provincial Commissioner, and Mrs. Christopher Vokes, Deputy Provincial Commissioner, both of Edmonton; Mrs. A. Fred Wilks, Provincial Commissioner of B.C. Vancouver, and her two deputies, Mrs. C. W. Husband of Vernon and Mrs. Roy Holmes of Vancouver. International, training, camping, program and public relations department heads of both provinces will also attend.

Area Commissioners attending include Mrs. A. G. Gosling, Victoria, Miss Eileen Periton, Burnaby, and Mrs. F. E. Robbins, Vancouver. Division and District Commissioners from Edmonton, Calgary and Innisfail, Alberta; Nanaimo, Quesnel, Prince George, Trail, Nelson and other centres in B.C. will be present.

Arrangements for the conference are being handled by Mrs. G. W. Smart, West Vancouver, Miss Periton, and Miss Marjorie Menzies, North Vancouver. Local arrangements are being made by Mrs. B. T. Blagborne, West Summerland, Division Commissioner for the South Okanagan.

Flannelette Sheets Can Be Had—Bigger!

With cooler weather coming, the homemaker thinks of warmer bedding, and flannelette sheets are in popular demand.

Fitted flannelette sheets are appearing on the retail market—at least in the single and double bed sizes—and these are sanforized to control shrinkage. The regular flannelette sheets must still be purchased to allow for 10 per cent shrinkage. It is the hope of the Canadian Association of Consumers that these too will be sanforized in the near future.

Because so many consumers express dissatisfaction with the lengths of flannelette sheets available in many stores, the CAC stressed the fact that manufacturers do make these longer sheets (both 100" and 108") and are anxious to sell them. They are of a necessity slightly higher priced than the so-called popular 70" x 90" size.

If the retailer does not stock these longer sheets, the consumer should request that he obtain them for her.

Some people have read so much about the harmful effects of smoking that they have decided to give up reading.

Dr. Layton has been ministering to the congregation of First United Church during Rev. CAC Toy Buying Guide Reprint Will Be Published In November

MONTREAL (CP)—The president of the Canadian Association of Consumers says consumers should be regarded as partners with producers and distributors in Canada's economy.

Isabel Atkinson of Saskatoon told the national annual meeting Wednesday: "We cannot solve the new economic problems by following old economic patterns."

"This is a question of consumer economics as well as producer economics. The time has come when the consumers' partnership with producers and distributors in the Canadian economy should be recognized. We must try to see that it is a balanced, no longer unequal, partnership."

TOY TESTING

Mrs. A. L. Kassirer, chairman of the toy testing committee, reported 150 new toys were tested in the last year.

The association's toy buying guide—What's What for Children—had been bought by 6,000 Canadians and several hundred requests had come from the United States.

A third edition of the booklet is due for publication in November. "All this indicates that in five years the committee has grown from an idea to a force felt in Canada," said Mrs. Kassirer. "From an unknown, experimental body it has changed into a dynamic sure-footed research group whose advice is sought by government bodies, manufacturers, retailers, importers, parents and educators."

FOR HANDICAPPED

She said a new division had been set up to test toys for handicapped children.

Testing was done in schools and homes on cerebral palsied, mentally retarded and blind children.

Results of the testing and general information for toys for groups of such children would appear in the third edition of the committee's booklet.

DISCERNING SHOPPERS

Mrs. J. A. Stehr of Montreal suggested in a report that women should be more discerning in their shopping habits.

"If a low price is the prime factor in a purchase," she said, "it is reasonable to expect the article has been cheapened in some way in order to keep the cost at a minimum, and will not then give the most satisfactory service."

"If, however, an article is purchased whose quality should, according to price and label, render reasonable wear and satisfaction, then the consumer has just cause for complaint if it does not do so."

Mrs. Ralph Ducloux, chairman of the membership committee, reported the association has a membership of 25,000.

Holiday Theatre To Have Local Square Dancers

A highlight of the Holiday Theatre presentations this afternoon and this evening at the Kelowna Senior High School will be participation in the show of local square dancers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Barre, Mr. and Mrs. R. Suter, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Larson, Miss Lola Jackson and Mr. Wilfred Turner will contribute their time and talent to the show in a colorful display of square dancing that is an integral part of "The Magic Nugget."

Written especially for the British Columbia centennial year, this exciting historical play promises good entertainment for the whole family. In former appearances in Kelowna, Holiday Theatre has proved a delight to children and adults alike.

Matinee performance is at 3 p.m. with the evening presentation beginning at 7:30.

How To Live Forever . . . If You're Careful

(The Herald, Thamesville, Ont.) "No sir," said Eustace Coleridge, "it's all wrong. What with the latest medical discoveries and the newest inventions, a man dies, just through carelessness. Not for me, I'm going to watch my step, and live forever."

So . . .

He brushed his teeth twice each day with the right kind of toothpaste.

He had a complete physical examination every three months.

He always stayed inside when it rained.

He slept with the windows open.

He stuck to his diet—with plenty of proteins and fresh vegetables.

He had his tonsils taken out and traded in several worn-out glands.

He played golf, but never more than 18 holes at a time.

He took ocean trips, but only when the weather was good.

He never smoked, drank, or lost his temper.

He wore arch preservers.

He never worked under a strain or drove himself.

He never worried.

The funeral of the late Eustace Coleridge will be held next Monday afternoon. He is survived by 18 specialists, four health institutes, six gymnasiums, and numerous manufacturers of antiseptic appliances and sanitary foods.

(He had forgotten about driving too fast!)

WESTBANK

WESTBANK — Guests during all of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kramer, 6th Ave. N., were the latter's mother, Mrs. Caroline Prochnau and her daughter and son, Mrs. W. Bartz and Eldor Prochnau. Leaving at the weekend they motored back to their homes near Edmonton.

Miss Betty Davidson, R.N., arrived Wednesday to spend a brief holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Davidson. Miss Davidson returned last week from a journey that took her to Australia, Tasmania and many other points. During her stay in Australia she followed her profession of nursing, and can tell many interesting stories of life "down under."

Mrs. A. H. Davidson spent the weekend with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Les Humphrey and family at Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Jones, with Kathy and Craig, were visitors from Kamloops at the weekend. Mrs. Jones is the former Miss Miriam Stewart, R.N., daughter of the late Mrs. K. E. Stewart, and grew up in Westbank.

You can't tell, maybe the fish goes home and brags about the size of the bait he stole.

Local Golfers Presenting Tea, Fashion Shows

"Around the World in 80 Minutes" will be the theme of the fashion show and tea planned for Wednesday, October 8, by the ladies' section of the Kelowna Golf and Country Club.

For those unable to attend the afternoon program which begins at 3 p.m., there will be an evening show and refreshments at 8:30.

Aileen McGillivray will be commentator during the showing of fashions for fall from Glamour Year, Gem Furriers and Peter Pan Toggeries. The latter will be modeled by children. Music will be provided by Kay Dore.

Fashion shows are always a pleasant diversion, so why not phone a few friends, and plan to attend this first preview of autumn wear?

INSIDE STORY FOR FALL FASHION

How to reproduce the lovely free and flowing lines of this new Fall Fashion in a fabric of your own choice is very simple—if you follow the new techniques in dressmaking. It's a short, easy-to-understand story, for Marian Martin Printed Pattern 9358 will guide you every inch of the way. Most important is your ability to retain the shape and to keep the brisk flare of the skirt, even if you use a soft crepe. This is done by using a non-woven Pellon interfacing. There are many weights. For this dress, the light-weight, all bias Pellon was used. The dress requires about three yards of interfacing for the skirt and about one-half yard of the all-bias interfacing for the neck. Remember, it does not have to be cut on the grain nor will it ravel or shrink. Simply follow the directions and enjoy the smartest dress you have ever made.

Marian Martin Printed Pattern 9358 comes in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 16 takes 4 1/2 yards 35-inch fabric. Send FIFTY CENTS (50c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Please print plainly Sissy Number, Size, Name and Address. Send order to MARIAN MARTIN, care of The Daily Courier, Pattern Department, 60 Front St. W., Toronto, Ont.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buscher

Scripture—Luke 1:1-4; 3:1-4; Acts 1:1-4

St. Luke begins his epistle, ed.—Luke 1:3-4. by writing to Theophilus, a disciple. "That thou mightest know the certainty of those things, wherein thou hast been instructed."

John the Baptist lived in the wilderness until the word of God came to him. Then he went forth preaching the Gospel of repentance for remission of sins. Luke 3:3. John's listeners asked him what they should do to be saved. When soldiers asked him, he told them, "Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely."—Luke 3:14. In Jerusalem after His resurrection, Jesus told His Apostles

CHURCH ROUNDS

On Tuesday, October 28, three distinguished missionaries will speak at the Free Methodist church.

Dr. and Mrs. L. Rice, from South Africa and Mrs. C. Winslow, a recent returnee from Formosa will be featured speakers of the evening.

The public is cordially invited to these lectures that should prove interesting in light of present world affairs.

Rev. Iwa Ikanawye will conduct the evening service at 8 o'clock at the South Kelowna community hall on Sunday, October 5.

Rev. Ikanawye and his wife are both former Kelowna residents and have recently returned from a five year mission in Japan.

At the conclusion of the service, slides of the work being done in Japan will be shown.

The Junior League will meet tonight at 7 o'clock.

The boys' group will be in charge of the meeting. Alan Hill will act as group captain with Frank Luellaw as councillor.

Rev. Gordon Sears, director of the Vancouver Youth for Christ movement will speak at the Peoples Mission Friday, October 10.

Mr. Sears, who addressed the Sunday School rally here last month, will show a film dealing with the teen-age problem of "going steady."

Admission is free, and both parents of teen-agers are invited to this outstanding film.

Because of the anticipated crowds, two showings are scheduled at 7 and 9 p.m.

A service of commission and farewell will be held at the Peoples Mission at 7:15 Sunday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Oxenham will speak at the service. Mr. Oxenham, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Oxenham of Winfield, is leaving with his wife next week for eastern Canada, where they will participate in deputation work in preparation for bible school work in Italy.

The service will be followed by an informal fellowship meeting in the lower auditorium.

Other Sunday services at the Peoples Mission will include Sunday school at 9:15 a.m. and morning worship at 11 a.m.

A combined service of the morning worship and the Sunday school will be held at St. Paul's United Church on October 5.

The service will be conducted by Rev. Perley, who will speak on the subject of "family religion."

The lesson will be read by Mrs. J. G. Mervyn, the superintendent of the Sunday school. Miss Arlene McKinley will read the story on the theme of the rally day entitled "This is My Father's World."

The newly formed junior choir will be in attendance under the direction of Mrs. J. Munro.

A public meeting will be held on the evening of Tuesday, October 7, when Rev. R. W. Henderson, newly appointed superintendent of missions will address the fall session of the Kamloops-Okanagan Presbytery.

The Presbytery convenes at 10 a.m. Tuesday and will continue until Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Luther Schuetz of Keremeos will act as chairman.

Lutheran Women Membership Now Record High

TORONTO (CP)—Membership of the United Lutheran Church Women has reached a record high of 163,688. Mrs. John B. Moose of Leesville, S.C., retiring president, reported today.

She also told about 1,000 delegates and visitors to the group's five-day convention the budget for 1959 will be $1,100,000, an increase of $50,000 over this year.

The main United Lutheran Church has been given more than $23,000,000 by the women's group during the last 40 years, she said.

Since it began the ULCW had supported 178 women missionaries in almost every part of the world.

In 1959 $444,000 will be given to the Lutheran Church's board of foreign missions to be spent in Argentina, Hong Kong, India, and British Guiana.

Three Canadian women were appointed foreign missionaries in the last three years. They included Doris Arlene Schultz, a nurse, of Hay Lakes, Alta., and Bertha E. Lange of Edmonton. Miss Schultz is in Malaya and Miss Lange will soon go to India.

HARMLESS SNAKE BITES TEACHER, EATS FROGS

Garter snakes do not enjoy the favor of T. Harwood - Jones, right, caretaker of longview public school, Scarboro, Ont. So he was not responsible for what happened a few nights ago at the school aquarium. Teacher

F. Addison, centre, was telling his class that the garter snake was harmless - and just at that moment the snake bit him. Then he put the snake in a box next to a couple of frogs. In the morning there was one snake with two suspicious bulges in his middle and not a frog in sight. Peter Scott, left, just wanted to be sure that the caretaker hadn't released the snake as a joke - but Mr. Jones pleads not guilty.

PGE Northern Special Gets Roaring Welcome

CHETWYND, B.C. (CP) - A roaring gas outlet and a roaring bonfire greeted the Pacific Great Eastern Railway's inaugural run when it reached this northern British Columbia town.

The train left North Vancouver Tuesday morning bound for the north - eastern communities of Dawson Creek and Fort St. John.

The gas outlet - a length of steel pipe bringing gas in from the pipeline running throughout this city - was lit by Premier Bennett. The bonfire was touched off after the premier left the celebrations.

PLENTY TO EAT
At an outdoor barbecue staged by the city great pans and tubs of food - salads, grilled and broiled meat, rice, potatoes and trimmings - weighed down a large square food bar. Gallons of coffee and a few pots of tea were there for washing it down.

The town's population, normally 750, as more than doubled as people came in from communities up to 100 miles away to join in the festivities.

PREMIER "AMAZED"
Mr. Bennett said he was "amazed and thrilled to see the great progress made" in this community and in the surrounding area.

"There are many people who don't appreciate this great Peace River empire," the premier said, but he was "sure that the coming

GOLDEN OWL CALLING

By BRIAN MILLER

Just now we are watching the girls play soccer, from our desk here in the hallowed halls of Kelowna High School. Forgive us if we depart from the writing a bit, for we are a little distracted right now!

First on the list is the item which Ferdinand the Owl handed us the other day: THE FIRST DANCE will be on Friday, October 10, when the student council will sponsor a "student card shuffle." This dance will be held in the KHS auditorium. Pupils with student cards are admitted free, and those without may buy them at the door, in a "last chance" offer. Eric Lipka was appointed chairman of the dance committee.

Ferdinand tuned into the radio here on Saturday, and found that a "really big show" was taking place. This program is called "High Time," and features news, music, interviews and lively discussions by Valley teenagers (mostly from KHS—so far). The program is produced weekly by CKOV's Doug MacLraith, and KHS's own Walt (the man) Gray. It features Alan Parfitt, Judy Godfrey, Eric and Ricky Lipka, a girl named Sandra, and Stan Schellenberg. Occasionally Brian Miller rears his ugly head into the surroundings, and Lady-of-the-Lake Sharon Bunde conducts interviews on the Radio-Drama Club section of the program. Kids from all over the valley are invited to send their news and suggestions in to Judy Godfrey.

Ferdinand heard an interesting panel discussion on "Racial Prejudice," with Anne Rowles, Judy Godfrey, Peter Marsh and Brian Miller. While Peter Marsh and his Nibs were tossing comments back and forth (through most of the session), Judy Godfrey and Anne Rowles, along with Eric Lipka, weighed the problems silently in hand and gave some constructive comments on the racist situation. Ferdinand has heard via the grapevine that next week the panel will include students, teachers and parents, in a discussion of health and personal development, and its worth in the school curriculum. So listen, kids, from 3:10 to 4:00 p.m. this coming Saturday.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS
House games are now being played, the game for this season being American touch football, which people have been asking for a long time. The houses this year are: Red, White, Blue, Yellow, Brown and Green. There are three sponsors for each house, respectively: Messrs. Green, Geen, Webb; McClelland, Henderson, Halyk; Wood, Jones, Cresce; Gowans, Scutt, McKinley; Barwick, Dumka, Flower; and Wilson, Waldron and Hadfield.

The girls' sponsors are, respectively, Miss Gale and Mrs. Edwards; Miss Lean; Mrs. Johnston; Mrs. Deacon; Mrs. Wood; and Mrs. Greig.

Here are the first house scores: Red versus Yellow. They fought it out to a knock-down-drag-out 0-0! Brown versus White, Brown winning, 6-0. Blue trampled Green under foot of man, the score, 6-0. All the Blue Housemen played a winning game, but Jerry Robertson, Tun Wong, and Dave Solvey really proved their skill.

BOYS' SOCCER FOOTBALL
This year, the KHS boys' soccer team is the defending central zone champion; let's hope that they hold on to the title. The new coach this year is popular Walt Green, and the team captain is Rod (the wall) Green. Others on this year's team include: Boychuk, Ikenouye, Robertson, Millar, Angus, Verma, Wong, Ashton, Iatanaka, Short, Hartwick, Stoltz, Harris, and other hopefuls. The champs will play against Westbank and Summerland next week. Mr. Green summed up the team's motives very aptly.

"To win as many games as possible—to also have fun," was his summation.

NEW THINGS DEPARTMENT
A new club this week is the KHS Chess Club, with Mr. Wilson as the sponsor and driving force. Contrary to popular belief, chess is not a game for gnarled, bearded, old men (or women) exclusively! It is itself a very ancient game, going back to the early Chinese and Romans. It appeals, however, to young and old alike, and once one becomes acquainted with it, its taking a sharp turn. There is a club of this sort at the Junior High, and the present club has about twelve members. Like the Science Club, the Chess Club invites girls (or ghouls) into the organization.

Another club which must be started up pretty soon is the Kelowna Art Club, which already has many enthusiastic supporters. This club encourages young artists of Kelowna to use their individual styles for painting. It is hoped that an exhibition may be held soon. A CLOSING WORD... There are people on this continent who are not getting a fair deal. These are the 16,000 Little Rock high school students who are idling because of a little man's (Faubus') political ambitions. Let's hope education by the time we write that the attitudes towards Negroes up here can never be the same; nine Negro students should not be the object of terror that they can throw the whole public school system out of kilter. There is a gleam of light, however; both we and Ferdinand believe that sensible people in the south are waking up to this folly.

Job Strains Can Make Blood Pressure High

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Whether business is good or whether it is bad, some businessmen are likely to be troubled by high blood pressure. If things are going well, a businessman may strain too hard to make them go even better. If the outlook is bad, he may worry all the more.

THEY'RE SUSCEPTIBLE

We have known for a long time that persons who work under constant strain and worry a great deal over various problems are particularly susceptible to hypertension.

Hypertension, itself, is not a disease. Rather it's a sign that something is wrong somewhere inside.

WHEN THERE'S DANGER

If the pressure remains consistently high for a long period of time, however, it might cause serious damage to the heart, kidneys and other body organs. If you have high blood pressure, you should be under the care of a doctor. You should also follow these ten simple rules:

1. Take it easy. Walk, never run.
2. Worry and argue as little as possible. Go out of your way to avoid disagreements.
3. Keep weight normal.
4. Eat four or five light meals a day instead of three heavy ones.
5. Take it easy on all stimulants. This includes coffee, as well as tobacco and alcohol.
6. Rest when you begin to feel tired, not after you are all tuckered out.
7. Try to nap twice a day, half an hour before lunch and from half an hour to an entire hour before dinner. If you can't get to sleep, at least spend this time relaxing.
8. Try to quit work in time to permit about an hour of light outdoor exercise. Walking, don't forget, is exercise.
9. Get to bed in time to insure adequate rest. Certainly you should be in bed before midnight.
10. Practice moderation in everything.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q: Does a rash in a child always indicate the presence of a communicable disease?
A: Self-diagnosis and self-medication are inadvisable. A doctor should always be consulted when a child breaks out in a rash.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

QUIZ

You are the dealer, neither side vulnerable, and have opened One Diamond. Partner has responded One Heart. What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠ 7 ♥ 103 ♦ AK8652 ♣ KJ4
2. ♠ AK75 ♥ Q82 ♦ AKJ84 ♣ 6
3. ♠ 8 ♥ Q862 ♦ AK74 ♣ AJ35
4. ♠ ♠ KJ752 ♦ AKJ653 ♣ A

1. Two hearts. There is a conflict between the desire to rebid the good six-card diamond suit and to show the heart support. As is usual in such cases, the decision is resolved depending upon the overall strength of the hand.

A two heart bid is more encouraging than two diamonds. Whatever is the value of partner's hand standing by itself, the heart raise is more apt to stimulate a further bid from him than would the rather weak-sounding two diamond bid.

We lack the strength to jump to three diamonds. The in-between course—a direct raise of hearts—reflects approximately the value of the hand. The bidding may continue in such a way that we can later rebid the diamonds to show both the long suit and that the heart raise was given with only three trumps.

2. Two spades. The position should be taken that this is a game-going hand once partner responds with a heart. A one spade bid is not forcing and might properly be dropped by North with a weak hand that may be good enough to produce a game. Partner needs little more than K-J-x-x-x of hearts to be able to make a game. For slam purposes also, in case North has a good hand, the jump shift puts us well on the path.

3. Three hearts. Although we have only 14 high card points, the heart fit and good suit control indicate we are on the verge of game. A two club bid should not be risked since it may be passed. Nor does the hand qualify as a jump shift to three clubs. The only other possible bid—four hearts—would constitute an overbid. If North cannot respond to three hearts, the chances are we don't belong in game.

4. Four notrump. Point count flies out the window in hands of this sort. The important thing is to know how many aces North has. If he responds to the blackwood bid with five clubs, showing no aces, we quit at five hearts. If North shows one ace by bidding five diamonds, it is reasonable to jump to six hearts. The chances are only one trick will be lost.

If North bids five hearts, identifying two aces, we would recommend a seven heart bid. A trick might be lost to a red queen, but we'd be willing to take that chance.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

In job matters, get an early start and plan your schedule so as to complete important tasks in the forenoon when the prospects will be fine for accomplishment. P.M. influences favor social activities and domestic affairs.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your chart highlights many reasons for optimism in the year ahead. Personal relationships will be pleasant, which augurs well for social, domestic and sentimental matters; and there is also promise of great improvement in your occupational status between now and mid-1959.

This month there is a strong possibility that, through some unexpected source, you will profit financially, but generally speaking, it would be advisable to be conservative in money matters for the next year. Look for some very good news late in December, and a chance to expand business operations during the first three months of 1959.

A child born on this day will be warm-hearted and amiable but may be inclined toward laziness.

The gold-domed "Shoppersville" will contain 65 stores under one roof, will cover 1,500,000 square feet of floor area and parking space on three levels for 3,600 cars. Besides, two supermarkets, two restaurants and other retail stores, the dream centre will have an 18,000 square foot play area where children may be left in the care of trained supervisors; a care and feeding service for infants and two auditoriums, seating 1,800, which can be used free of charge for religious or community groups. Completion is expected by 1960.

Diefenbaker Makes Defence Plan Public

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is giving the Canadian Army what it wanted perhaps more than anything else—guided missiles.

And there is an indication the RCAF may still get the Arrow jet interceptor, the aircraft it says it needs to continue as a true airborne force.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker told reporters after a cabinet meeting the army will get the American surface-to-air missile.

A battery comprising four missile launchers, regular army trucks mounted with platform and fire-control equipment and 12 missiles will be established.

ATOMIC WARHEAD

The Prime Minister declined to say whether the Lacrosse will be fitted with atomic warheads, which the army also has asked for. These could be obtained only by special U.S. permission.

But half the Lacrosse battery is to be deployed with the 4th Infantry Brigade in West Germany and it was assumed atomic warheads would be available in Europe for emergency though remaining in the custody of American troops. The other half of the battery goes to the artillery school at Camp Shilo, Man.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed a team comprising RCAF and defence production department personnel now is in California investigating a new flight and armament control system for the Arrow.

The team left Canada after the government announced last week postponement of a final decision on whether to put the supersonic Arrow into limited production. The government at the time left the clear impression the project would be scrapped.

AVRO OPTIMISTS

Avro officials say they are convinced the government will order limited production of the Arrow, on which it has already committed itself to spend some $500,000,000.

The Lacrosse missiles, expected to be ready for delivery in a year, is used as an artillery piece. It has greater range than present army artillery whose biggest gun is the 155-millimetre howitzer. Cost of the battery is estimated at $1,198,000 and annual recurring cost at $360,000.

The Canadian navy has already acquired American air-to-air Sidewinder missiles for its Banshee jet fighters.

Inland Seeks Prince George Help For Gas Certification

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Inland Natural Gas Company has asked for city council help in getting a government certificate immediately to supply natural gas to Prince George.

Mayor Carrie Jane Gray said she will call a special meeting of city council to consider a report on a meeting between city councillors and Inland representatives, headed by president John McMahon.

The meeting between Inland and city officials followed the defeat of a second referendum by Prince George ratepayers which would have permitted the city to operate its own natural gas distribution system.

The provincial Public Utilities Commission has granted Inland a certificate of public convenience effective June 1 unless Prince George works out its own system.

Mr. McMahon suggested Tuesday night that a public referendum could be avoided by using a modified certificate of public necessity and convenience instead of a franchise contract.

Under this proposal, the PUC certificate would be changed to incorporate payment to the city of three per cent of the gross revenue from gas sold within city boundaries.

"We will want to know where Inland stands on the many promises it has made to the city and consumers during the last few months," said Ald. Williams, chairman of the city gas committee.

Ald. Williams produced an Inland publication which stated that under Inland's proposal, the city could expect an increased revenue of from $40,000 to $50,000 per year.

Said Ald. Crampton: "In listening to Mr. McMahon, it seems to me that Inland is making a pretty shrewd down offer."

"It is our duty to get the best deal possible for the city and it would be foolish indeed to knock the feet from under our gas committee in its talks with Inland if we tried to have the certificate effective immediately and destroy their only bargaining point."

Gromyko Calls For Debates

AMATEURS WORK MORE CHEAPLY

Now is the time for all good men to bring out their hair clippers and save a buck or two. Wives are doing it, too, in protest over the hike in hair-cutting prices to $1.25 for men and 75 cents for children. The increase is in effect in the Toronto area and is expected to spread to other districts. Here is Steve Magliari, a bartender by occupation, operating on three-year-old son Gas. He says he gets no complaints from his only customer for an amateur job.

SHOPPING PROJECT
CHILLIWACK (CP)—Plans for simultaneous construction of four large shopping centres valued at several million dollars in the Upper Fraser Valley were announced here Thursday by Warner Holdings of Calgary. They will be at Abbotsford, Haney, Mission and Chilliwack.

RENTAL PLAN
VANCOUVER (CP)—A second low-rental housing project, delayed about three months by labor disputes, will open here about the end of 1958. Officials of the Vancouver Housing Authority said applications for the 169 units are being accepted.

CONTRACT URGED
PENTICTON (CP)—A majority report in a dispute between the Interior Lumber Manufacturers Association and the International Brotherhood of America has recommended a two-year contract with wage increases of three per cent each year.

The majority report released by the conciliation board Thursday was signed by chairman P. Fleming of Victoria and L. R. Stephens, Kelowna, representing the operators.

The IWA had requested a wage increase of 15 per cent in one year. However, the operators told the board that since the price of lumber had dropped to levels not seen since 1951, no wage increase was possible in a one-year contract.

For a two-year contract, a small increase in each year was offered.

HUMAN ERROR
VANCOUVER (CP)—An executive of Dominion Bridge Company said Thursday night "mathematical or human error" in the company's design led to collapse of the Second Narrows bridge last June 17.

Two engineers who might have been responsible were among 48 men killed in the accident.

The statement was made before a Royal Commission investigating the disaster. Robert Scott Eadie, vice-president in charge of the eastern division of Dominion Bridge, said Thursday that the company was "stepped committing any future Labor government to giving up the making of nuclear weapons."

He opened debate on foreign policy at the annual conference of the party against a background of controversy that has divided its membership.

But Bevan, the party's spokesman on foreign affairs, sided with the government's policy.

UNIONS

Harten, G. Nairne and A. L. Kanest, for the Federation; by C. A. Gower, James Scott and R. L. Gallagher, for the Teamsters, and by W. Dodge, J. MacKenzie and T. C. Gooderham.

The agreement follows:

"In the best interest of workers engaged in the fruit industry in the Okanagan Valley and vicinity, the following program has been developed and agreed upon between representatives of the IFT and the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions, and the Canadian Labor Congress:

"1. The settlement of all funds, properties and assessments involved in this dispute is agreed as follows:

"(a) Local 48 IFT agrees to turn over all sums and properties listed in the writ of delivery issued by Justice Brown, September 2, 1958, to the party designated thereon.

"(b) The court assessment of $5,454.00 is to be settled by the legal counsel of each party and their recommendation is to be carried out to the best of each party's ability.

"(c) The Federation to sign on behalf of its members a statement withdrawing all costs and future claims arising from this dispute.

"2. The Federation agrees to call a convention to provide for whatever constitutional changes and other action necessary for the effective completion of this program.

"3. Local 48 IFT agrees to withdraw all applications for certification currently pending before the B.C. Labor Relations Board. This applies only to the fresh fruit and vegetable industry.

"4. The Federation will withdraw its writ of prohibition lodged against the B.C. Labor Relations Board.

"5. The Federation will take such action as is necessary to bring about a dissolution of said Federation, and the formation of a chartered local of the Canadian Labor Congress in its stead.

"6. The CLC will entertain an application for a local union charter covering the fresh fruit and vegetable warehousing industry in the Okanagan Valley and vicinity, and its local shall inherit all rights, jurisdiction, assets and liabilities of the Federation and its local unions.

"7. Representatives of the CLC will conduct open meetings of the workers in this industry to explain this program.

"8. All documents and communications or copies thereof necessary for the fulfillment of the obligations prescribed herein shall be forwarded to T. C. Gooderham, regional director for the CLC, 2475 Manitoba St., Vancouver, B.C., who shall act as intermediary for both parties.

"9. Each party shall give to T. C. Gooderham a letter granting him power to act on all phases of this program.

"10. It is mutually understood by both parties that the matters covered in this document must be approved by the membership of each organization and their respective legal counsel. In the event all phases are not acceptable, further meetings will be held to resolve such matters. At such meetings, only the items in dispute may be discussed."

FUN IN THE NEWS

BRISTOL, Eng. (Reuters)—Civil defence workers Wednesday were asked to test a coconut for radioactivity.

The coconut was presented to six-year-old Raymond Bollen by a soldier who had returned from Britain's mid-Pacific atomic testing base at Christmas Island.

The boy's mother became worried and submitted the coconut to civil defence authorities for a geiger counter test.

The test proved negative.

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—When Jack W. Emahiser arrived from Portland, Ore., by plane, he asked someone where he could find the airport limousine.

He was told it was just outside the terminal building... the keys were in it... and it was available for use.

Emahisers had to explain the whole thing to police when they clamped him as he headed toward town at the wheel of the limousine. The police took him back to the airport—to pick up the regular driver.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Bobbie Stroud got a $20 water bill Wednesday that was mailed Dec. 2, 1942.

The bill was mailed from the City Hall here to Stroud's Cleaners and Dyers, four miles away.

The water department said the account didn't show an unpaid balance.

Joe L. Jackson, postal clerk, said the bill must have gone astray at the main office.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—Hasker Dozier has spent 11 months in jail for not paying a court judgment against him in a traffic accident.

Recently, Dozier discovered he could obtain his release if he proved his possessions are worth less than $20.

"All I've got are my pants, shoes and the shirt on my back," Dozier told Judge James E. Spier Wednesday.

TRANSPLANTED DOG STILL LIVES

Russian surgeon Professor V. P. Demikhov of the Moscow Medical Institute gives a drink to Ryzhyi, a German police dog, two days after successfully grafting on to the animal the head and front paws of a stray mongrel dog. The operation was witnessed by Dr. David Gurewitsch, a Columbia University neurologist, and a Norwegian surgeon, Christian Kap-pelen. Dr. Gurewitsch said the dog's new head was playful, while the old one seemed a bit sleepy. He said the dog seemed normal, however, and both heads ate and barked. It has one heart but six legs. Dr. Gurewitsch said Demikhov also succeeded in creating a dog with two hearts and also grafted a cat on to a dog and a goat on to a calf and all three had lived.

Bing Thinks Daughter Part Of His Future

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is there a daughter in Bing Crosby's future? Bing thinks so.

"Next time we'll get a girl," he says confidently.

This came out as Bing worked on the first of his two spectaculars for ABC this week. In a mellow mood, he spoke of his latest son, Harry Lillis Jr., his four older boys and their careers.

"We were kinda hoping for a girl," he said, speaking for himself and wife Kathy Grant. "But that boy of ours is such a wonderful little fella that we're not at all disappointed."

This week the entire Crosby clan gathered for a dinner to honor son Philip and his bride, Las Vegas showgirl Sandra Drummond. There was a feast at the family mansion "and plenty of the bubbly," and the celebration seemed to belie reports of discord among Bing and his boys.

FRAMES CHOICE
"She's a very sweet girl," Bing said of his new daughter-in-law. "She's got a good head on her shoulders and she doesn't drink or smoke."

Papa Crosby admitted that he was surprised that his four older boys appear headed for show business careers.

"If I knew Gary would probably try it, but I thought I had the other three headed in different directions," he said. "The twins (Philip and Dennis) looked as though they might take over the Elko (Nev.) ranch. But I guess they got too close to it. They spent their summers up there working hard and I suppose the ranching life lost its glamor for them."

Lindsay spent a winter there and it gets down to 35 below. He had to chip the ice off the hay.

The Egyptians grew grapes and made wine as long as 6,000 years ago.

World Series Affects Tieup

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—The world series had an effect on United Auto Worker picket lines at the General Motors sparkplug plant here Thursday.

When a general strike started at 11 a. m. EDT more than 200 pickets manned the main factory and administration buildings gates. When the game started four hours later at Milwaukee there were 12 pickets at the administration building, nine at the main gate.
